Adventists to Build Seminary Dormitory In Takoma Park Soon

By Caspar Nannes

A seminary dormitory of 64 apartments and 18 rooms soon will be built at the Seventh-day Adventist Theological Seminary in Takoma Park, Md., D. E. Rebok, president of the seminary, today told delegates attending the 45th session of the General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists at Sligo Church, Carroll and Flower avenues, Takoma Park.

Dr. Rebok predicted the enrollment at the seminary this summer will reach 150 students with ministers from all parts of the world matriculating for graduate work. He reported that 34 students completed graduate work at the institution during the past three years while others finished language courses equipping them to enter foreign mission work. Dr. Rebok, a graduate of Washington Missionary College in Takoma Park, was a missionary to China for 23 years.

Seventh-day Adventists have been granted equality with the state church and other established churches in Romania under a law passed on June 3, E. D. Dick, secretary of the general conference, told the gathering yesterday. The information was received by cablegram from D. Flores, president of the Romanian union.

Property Was Confiscated.

A. V. Olson, recently elected a vice president of the general conference and for many years president of the Southern European conference, said the Adventists, established in Romania about 50 years, had been dissolved and all their property confiscated by the government in 1941.

Two sets of three brothers and another church official, all originally from the small Seventh-day Adventist Church at Artichoke Lake, Minn., met at the conference for the first time in many years. They are the Olson and Nelson brothers and Herbert Hanson.

A. V. Olson, 62, of Berne, Switzerland, was elected vice-president of the General Conference this week; H. O. Olson, 60, is secretary of the South American Division at Buenos Aires, and A. J. Olson, 57, is head of Auburn (Wash.) Academy.

N. R. Nelson, 62, is chaplain of the denomination's sanitarium at Boulder, Colo.; J. R. Nelson, 46, is missionary volunteer secretary of the Southeastern California Conference, and H. R. Nelson, 42, is education and missionary volunteer secretary of the Ohio Conference. Herbert Hanson, 52, has been stationed near Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, for the past 12 years. His wife, who also is at the convention, has served as manager of the Haile Selassie household for the last five years.

Officers Elected.

The church from which the seven men came had 150 members early in the century. Mr. Hanson's father, Edward Hanson, 89, is the only surviving charter member of the church, which was organized in 1876. The Nelsons' father and mother were also charter members of the church while the Olsons' parents joined shortly afterwards.

Officers elected yesterday to serve at Takoma Park headquarters of the general conference were J. J. Nethery, vice president of the general conference; H. T. Elliott, T. J. Michael, J. I. Robison and W. P. Bradley, associate secretaries; W. H. Williams, J. F. Cummins and Roger Altman, assistant treasurers; H. W. Barrows, R. H. Adair and H. P. Bloum, associate auditors; L. E. Froom, ministerial department secretary; R. A. Anderson and Louise Kleuser, associate ministerial department secretaries.

Also, J. A. Stevens, Sabbath School secretary; T. L. Oswald, home missionary department secretary; E. E. Cossentine, educational secretary; H. A. Morrison, associate educational secretary; G. E. Peters, North American colored department secretary, and H. H. Votaw, religious liberty department secretary.

Bevin

Sees Scientific Basis.

Mr. Bevin said he had been working with Arabs and Jews and saw "the possibility of approaching this problem on a really thorough scientific basis."

He voiced belief that, "handled with determination and patience this can be settled as part of the Middle Eastern problem."

"You cannot deal with the Palestine Arabs alone," he said, "bound up with this is the great problem of Egypt.

"The policy in Egypt is not quite Churchillian. I don't believe in absolutely exclusive racial states. You cannot sort the world out that way. It is as bad as trying to make Glasgow completely Scotch—impossible."

Mr. Bevin said he could not bring himself to accept the theory that because a man is a Jew, "he must be hounded out of a country."

"I would strive to bring him back on terms of equality with other citizens," Mr. Bevin said. "Never was there a greater chance for statesmanship than the Arabs and the Jews now have to solve their problems."

Turns to Spanish Problem.

With hardly a pause for breath, Mr. Bevin turned to the Spanish problem, saying:

"I think the problem of Spain has been muddled. I believe if other countries had not interfered in the affairs of Spain, Franco would have gone."

He said he was ready "to consult with the United States and France at any moment in connection with the Spanish problem."

He disclosed he had been "in the closest possible touch with the Spanish people, and added: "They dread civil war and so would you."

Mr. Bevin said the greatest enemies to British-Russian friendship "are the Russian supporters in this country."

He recalled that he had offered to extend the 20-year British-Russian treaty of friendship for 50 years, but had met with rebuff from Premier Stalin, who insisted that the pact would need an amendment.

Mr. Bevin will meet in Paris June 15 with Foreign Commissar V. M. Molotov, Secretary of State Byrnes and the French Foreign Minister, perhaps Georges Bidault, at another conference of the leading foreign ministers.

Proposed Air Services.

Mr. Bevin continued in his address:

"Every newspaper in this country prints every speech that the Generalissimo (Stalin) or Mr. Molotov utters. The speech I made in the House of Commons has not yet appeared in a single Russian newspaper. What is the reason why the people of Russia are not allowed to know what is happening elsewhere?"

Mr. Bevin said he had proposed reciprocal air services between London and Moscow.

"I was told that would never be done and that we should only on special occasions and by special arrangements be allowed to fly British aircraft in," he said.

"If we cannot get reciprocity, what can I do? I cannot go to war and force them. I cannot do things like that. I can only ask them."

Speaking of the United States offer of a 25-year-treaty to keep Germany disarmed, Mr. Bevin declared:

"By God, wouldn't I have liked such a treaty to have been in force at the time of Dunkerque."

Jets

minutes from Floyd Bennett Field, New York to Burbank, Calif.

Originally there were four planes in the project, divided into two flights, but a mishap at a refueling stop eliminated one. The planes took off from March Field at 4:30 a.m. While the three hungry pilots are lunching with the Touchdown Club at 1414 I street N.W., two ground crews at Andrews Field will refuel and check the planes.

The pilots will start back toward California at 3:30 p.m. They are expected to arrive at their base around 7 p.m., Pacific time (10 p.m., Eastern time), for dinner.

The 14-hour round trip objective is to further the study of operational problems connected with long-distance jet flights. It's really a navigational training mission and test of instruments.

One flight was led by Col. Leon Gray of Casa Grande, Ariz., with Lt. Jack Richardson of Oklahoma City, Okla., as his wingman. The other leader is Maj. Robin Olds of Beverly Hills, Calif.

Lt. Dean D. Cox of Manhattan Beach, Calif., was Maj. Olds' wingman on the first leg of the flight, but was forced to abandon the trip due to a mishap when the planes refueled at Oklahoma City.

Lt. Cox inadvertently released his auxiliary fuel tanks while landing there, and there was no time to replace them. He planned to return to March Field.

He was "saddened because," he said, "I have never been east of the Missippi and wanted to make the trip."

The other planes took off from Oklahoma City on schedule.

Maj. Olds is a son of the late Maj. Gen. Robert Olds, a resident of the Washington area and a native of Woodside, Md. Gen. Olds was commanding general of the 2nd Air Force when he died.

Maj. Olds attended Millard's School before going to West Point, where he was graduated in the class of 1943. He has a brother here, Steven Olds, 1918 N street N.W., and a grandmother, Mrs. May M. Olds, 9117 First avenue, Silver Spring, Md.

Staff Sergt. Joseph E. Nichols of Moseley, Va., and Sergt. Harold W. Chetwood of Guernsey, Wyo., are the mechanics.

The jets will fly as high as 40,000 feet. On the return trip the planes will refuel at Scott Field, Ill., and at Midland, Tex.

Foreign Ministers to Open Session Saturday Afternoon

PARIS, June 12 (AP).—The Foreign Ministers of the United States, Russia, Great Britain and France will reassemble in the Luxembourg Palace here this week for another attempt at writing a European peace settlement, a goal which has defied their efforts for almost a year.

Secretary of State Byrnes, accompanied by Senators Connally and Vandenberg, is expected to arrive Friday in time for the opening session Saturday afternoon.

The American leaders will be preceded Thursday by State Department advisers, Charles E. Bohlen, expert on Russian affairs, and Michael McDermott, the department's chief press relations officer.

The Russians, headed by Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, are due to arrive Friday, and British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin is expected Saturday morning.

One element of uncertainty has been injected into the Council's makeup by the current French governmental shakeup. Foreign Minister Georges Bidault may be elevated to the presidency of the republic and replaced by another political figure.

Since the ministers recessed last month, their deputies have carried on the work on peace treaties for Italy, Hungary, Romania, Bulgaria and Finland. But aside from minor points, such as the size of Romania's future armed forces, they have made no progress in solving the various conflicting positions on Trieste, the Italian colonies and Italian reparations.

Court Feud Seen Eliminating Jackson as New York Candidate

By George Van Slyke

NEW YORK, June 12.—Justice Jackson of the Supreme Court was eliminated today as second choice on the Democratic slate for the nomination for Governor of New York to oppose Thomas E. Dewey and party leaders for the first time indicated they were cooling off on the candidacy of Senator Mead, who has held the lead for several months.

Justice Jackson's name was scratched off as a direct result of the Supreme Court feud which broke Monday with his blast against Justice Black, bringing a long-smoldering conflict into the open with serious political consequences. There is an intimate relationship between the Jackson blowup and the Mead situation.

The party's attitude toward the Senator has been influenced materially by recent balloting in which the CIO-PAC has fallen down badly, making the worst showing in State and congressional elections of its short public career. The California result in which Gov. Earl Warren swamped the left-wing candidates in both party primaries has had sharp repercussions in New York.

Flynn Sees ALP Danger.

Edward J. Flynn, New York's national committeeman, has broken with the leftists in his county and is known to look with disapproval on too close alliance of State candidates with the American Labor Party. From up-State comes reports that Senator Mead's close association with the Hillman wing would be a dangerous issue in a State election.

James A. Farley visited Justice Jackson in Germany last spring and, while not openly making a commitment, has been credited with favoring him over Senator Mead for the nomination for Governor. And it was known that Justice Jackson was receptive. He was given the Nuernberg assignment as a buildup for political preferment in the coming elections and that has not worked out to his advantage.

Hint New Candidate.

With Justice Jackson fading out and Senator Mead's position less secure, although he is still holding first place, the Democratic chiefs are casting about for the first time in many years in a new appraisal of their contest. It was reported today that one strong county leader had made an even money bet that "Mead could not be led to the altar."

The situation is opening up for a new approach to the State campaign with a compromise made much easier between the Mead and Farley elements. Two names of available candidates were being discussed today at State headquarters. Secretary of the Navy Forrestal and Wayne Johnson, who has the strong support of Mayor O'Dwyer. Neither is as conspicuously associated with the left-wing elements as is Senator Mead and each is rated as leaning right of center.

Mihailovich

The court refused and told him to "speak out here."

The defendant said British Col. William Bailey, now attached to the British mission in Bulgaria, was at his headquarters. The prosecutor asked one question as to what Col. Bailey said.

"Col. Bailey said to liquidate the Communists," Gen. Mihailovich declared.

Questioned about his relations with another British liaison officer, Lt. Col. William Hudson, Gen. Mihailovich answered:

"We had conflicts about small things. Only very small things caused conflicts between us."

Q.—"Was there conflict on the main question of your military operations?"

A.—"No, there was not."

Received Italian Ammunition.

Gen. Mihailovich admitted under questioning that some of his Chetnik forces received ammunition from the Italians.

He said Chetnik morale was sometimes bad "because we were fighting each other."

Q.—"Against whom?"

A.—"Against the Partisans."

Taking the witness stand for the second successive day, the former Chetnik leader blamed certain of his commanders for the alleged co-operation of his troops with Axis forces.

One of those whom he mentioned by name was D. Jevdjevic, who is at present reported interned in British territory and whom the Yugoslav government is seeking to bring to trial as a war criminal.

In a burst of feeling, Gen. Mihailovich declared:

"It was my greatest mistake that I did not set aside Jevdjevic. Of all the men in the organization, he did the worst things to me."

Denies Knowing of Co-operation.

The court focused attention on a particular battle in 1943, apparently involving Yugoslav Partisans on one side and Germans and Chetniks on the other. Gen. Mihailovich testified he had "a clear picture of the operations."

"Did you know of co-operation between the Chetniks and Germans?" he was asked.

"No," Gen. Mihailovich replied, asserting that one of his officers "did it all on his own."

"I was informed later when I could no nothing about it," he added.

The prosecution questioned the defendant concerning other instances of collaboration by Chetnik units, all of which Gen. Mihailovich denied he knew of at the time they occurred.

Q.—And who was in command?

A.—I was supreme commander.

Q.—Did you know your troops in Serbia were co-operating with the Germans in 1943?

A.—No.

May Take Stand Several Days.

The progress of the trial indicated that Gen. Mihailovich probably will occupy the witness box for several days while the prosecution presents its case against him. The defense will then have its chance to interrogate him and present counter-evidence.

Under Yugoslav law, as in many European countries, the accused is considered guilty until proved innocent.

Sentence must be passed within seven days after the conclusion of the trial and there can be no appeals—except for pardon or commutation—since the trial court, which is a military section of the Supreme Court, is the highest in the land.

U. S. News Photographers Cover Mihailovich Trial

By the Associated Press

BELGRADE, June 12.—American news photographers were granted equal rights today with all Yugoslav photographers to take pictures at the trial of Gen. Draja Mihailovich.

Photographers were permitted to operate for 15 minutes at the opening of today's court session. Then all cameras were forbidden for the remainder of the day.

Yesterday the Paramount news reel cameraman said his cameras and exposed film of the trial were impounded by Yugoslav customs officials at the Belgrade Airport pending payment of $10,000 to the state film monopoly for rights to use the trial pictures. A Yugoslav official said at that time that a state documentary film was being planned and that competing films were not wanted.

Jewels

neither customs nor the War Department could ascertain whether the diamonds were part of the fabulous loot.

Disclosure by the War Department of Col. Durant's brush with customs was meant to clear up Chicago newspaper reports that 106 Hessian diamonds still were missing.

From Mr. Stephens it was learned Col. Durant brought the diamonds into the country without detection. Later he attempted to sell 70 stones weighing a total of 49.7 carats to the Chicago jeweler for almost $6,500. It was then customs stepped in, taking 102 diamonds from Col. Durant and four from a doctor friend who had received them as a gift.

The mild controversy involving the age of Mrs. Durant appeared settled today. A birth certificate of her son, R. Burke Nash, issued May 3, 1923, at Phoenix, Ariz., gave the mother's age at that time as 20. This would make her 43 and not 34, as listed in War Department files. Col. Durant's age has been given as 36.

eral languages and was honored by the Philippine government for his wartime radio broadcasts, said to have contributed materially in aiding Filipino guerilla warfare during the Japanese occupation. In 1904 and 1905 he served in the telegraph division of the Philippines constabulary and made Filipino friendships which are still strong today.

Representative Stefan's Democratic opponent in November will be Hans O'Jensen, 48-year-old Aurora farmer and former Hamilton County AAA chairman. Mr. Jensen, indorsed by his party's pre-primary convention, defeated Reg W. Reynolds, 55, Fremont insurance man.

Louvain Rector Gets Catholic U. Degree At Graduation Service

Catholic University conferred degrees upon nearly 700 students at its 57th annual commencement exercises in the university gymnasium today.

The Right Rev. Msgr. Edward B. Jordan, vice rector, conferred an honorary degree of doctor of laws on the Right Rev. Msgr. Honore van Waeyenbergh, rector of the University of Louvain.

The commencement speaker, Neil MacNeil, assistant managing editor of the New York Times, declared that the "worst confusion" in the world today is "deliberately manufactured by the Soviet Union."

Activity Here Cited.

Moscow is seeking to break down existing political order, faith and morals in an effort to spread communism and expand the power of Soviet foreign policy, Mr. MacNeil said.

The "most disturbing activity" of the Soviet here in the United States has been in the field of communications — the press, publishing houses, magazine radio chains and motion picture industry, Mr. MacNeil continued. To a considerable degree the Soviet Union has been successful in its attempt to "control or color the flow of information to the American public," the news executive stated.

Spain Called Diversion.

Specifically, Mr. MacNeil accused the Soviet Union of focusing world attention on Spain to divert attention from "more painful situations" in which Russia is involved elsewhere. It is possible, Mr. MacNeil concluded, that Russia may have as its "maximum objective" to start a war between France and Spain so that Communists can win control of both those governments.

The valedictory address was delivered by John B. Voor, a blind student, from Louisville, Ky., who did most of his study through Braille. The invocation and benediction were pronounced by the Most Rev. Peter L. Ireton, Bishop of Richmond and secretary of the university's Board of Trustees.
